THE MILESTONE

1925

Published by the Diploma Class of the

Eastern Kentucky State Normal School
and Teachers College

RICHMOND, KENTUCKY

Dedication

TO

MRS. MARY B. DEANE, A. B.

Whose many years of faithful and efficient service as a teacher at Eastern, whose devotion to duty, love of truth and hatred of error, whose kindly sympathy, unfailing enthusiasm, and the helpful interest in instruction have endeared her to the hearts of her pupils; to her whose pure and noble life shall remain a sacred memory to all students of Eastern, this book is affectionately dedicated.

MRS. MARY B. DEANE, A. B.

Foreword

As grandmother finds in her linen chest, treasures of lavender and lace in which she lives again her youth, so we hope that you will find this volume of The Milestone a treasure chest from which forgotten memories of youthful loves, desires, and hopes may be drawn in the later years of life

On Leaving Eastern

Through storm and tide, o'er billows wide,
  By wind and wave all laven,
Our barks, though frail, defied the gale
  To Eastern's happy haven.
Then at anchor lay in the sheltered bay
  These boats that brought us hither,
Till this good time—to other clime
  Now soon will bring us hither.

Our voyage thus far across the bar
  Of life's tempestuous sea,
Has been as fair and free from care
  As a voyage is wont to be.
The lessons learned, by work well earned,
  At the oars we've steadily striven,
Will remain to bless the storm and stress
  Through which our barks have driven.

On leaving the port of our college fort,
  To the winds our sails unfurled,
With naught of dismay we speed away
  To distant ports of the world.
We hold as chart an honest heart,
  For compass a conscience clear,
Safe passage we'll find—the pilot, mind,
  Our vessel securely will steer.

Fair Eastern, shore we most adore,
  We wave thee loving adieu,
O'er the surging deep our sails shall sweep
  Till our ships sail back to you.
When the goal is gained, success attained,
  And we sail again the sea,
Rare trophies found the world around
  We'll bring all back to thee.

JOSEPH ERNEST LANE
"J. E."

WICKLIFFE, KENTUCKY

A small and narrow path led to Blandville College, and thence a wider and smoother one to Western Normal; from whence a still broader led to Peabody, where the mighty "Lane" turned to Eastern.

His originality, strong personality, and executive ability, added to patience and industry, have marked his work as a student-teacher here.

He has served efficiently as county and city superintendent.

MRS. MELVIN E. MATTON
"Jack"

AMORY, MISSISSIPPI

Mississippi Normal College, 1919-20.
Peabody College for Teachers, 1921-24.

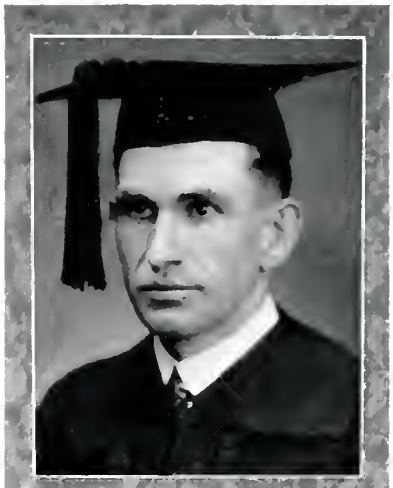
She is of a typical Southern style, possessing ease and charm of manner. She is loved by all, but especially by children, and is gifted in domestic accomplishments. Her name is "Jack," but unlike "Jack of all trades," she is master of all that she attempts.

E. C. MULLINS
"Charlie"

SOUTH CORBIN, KENTUCKY

"As a man thinketh, so is he."

Born among the hills, accustomed to "looking up" and "climbing." A careful student, a steady worker, earnest, energetic, enthusiastic, enjoys repartee and retort, dislikes formality and hates sham, likes athletic games and recreation, favorite pastimes are tennis and walking. He would rather make friends than money.



GREEN WASHINGTON CAMPBELL

HARLAN, KENTUCKY

"Earth changes, but thy soul and God stand sure."

"G. W." loves life, and hence "does not squander time"; believes in doing, not simply being; to him, life is living. He is eager to know and anxious to achieve—a thorough student, dependable, willing to accept responsibility, and capable of fulfilling obligations—a healthy body controlled by a strong mind and tempered with a generous spirit.

MARY ISABELLE FLOYD

"Polly"

SOMERSET, KENTUCKY

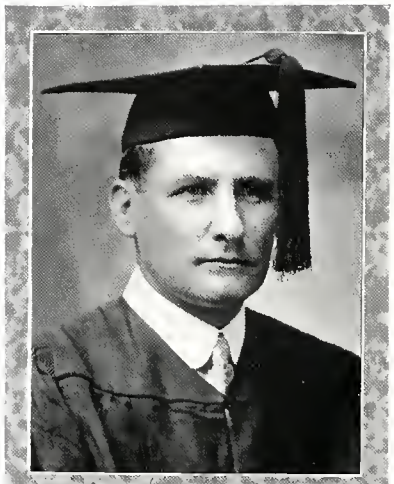
It's all the photographer's fault. Really, she's always smiling, and it isn't the wooden kind of smile, either; it's because she just naturally sees the thing to smile over as soon as it happens, if not before. What's that? Sure, she can sing! And if there's anything doing on the campus (as there always is at Eastern), she's in it. "Progress," "Open Forum," studies? Oh, she just does them with her left hand between whiles. That's all the time she needs.

B. F. HART

"Doc"

BURNING SPRINGS, KY.

Affable, obliging, and cheerful. Rapidly passing the milestones on the road that leads from his happy irresponsible boyhood in that little Eastern Kentucky village to the office of B. F. Hart, Distinguished Doctor of Dental Surgery. He is a man among men, destined to enter the first ranks in social and professional circles.



T. W. SKINNER
"Tom"

HARRODSBURG, KENTUCKY

Careful, discriminating, tireless—works according to plan, even to the minutest detail.

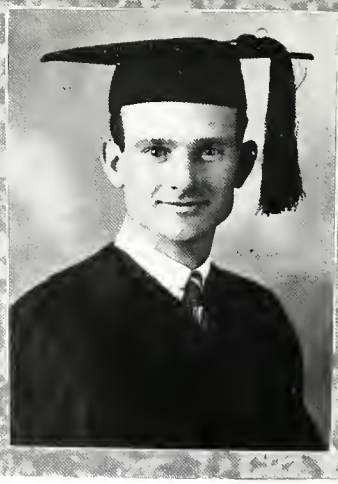
Though a Central Kentucky product, he lacked some of the advantages of early training. A start once made, he pushed forward with characteristic energy, attended Western Normal, then "chose the better part" and came to Eastern, studied for some time at Rennes University in France. Has held responsible positions as teacher, principal, and county superintendent.

HETTIE LEATHERS
"Hettie"

LAWRENCEBURG, KENTUCKY

A quiet, studious girl, constant, dependable, efficient, courteous, kind, amiable—a combination of quick wit, executive ability, and sound judgment; never gives up, though the way be rugged; a good student, a charming personality, a faithful friend.

She is domestic in her tastes, and her favorite outdoor sport is "Trip." Matrimony or pedagogy? That is the question.



A. B. MACKEY
"Mack"

ALBANY, KENTUCKY

"I would rather be right than President."

Born at Highway, he soon sought a better highway, the highway of learning, and has been an enthusiastic pilgrim toward Mount Realization. He is conscientious, modest, persevering, possesses moral courage, a champion of the right, a good conversationalist, but one whose actions speak louder than words; a lover of nature and of his fellow men.

In Appreciation

TO RICHARD A. FOSTER

Whose hand, tempered by justice, strengthened by knowledge, softened by kindness, and moved by sympathetic interest, has guided our class through a strenuous but happy and successful year.

Eastern

"Acquire wisdom, real wisdom, which inspects, discerns, compares, weighs, separates, infers, seizes the right and holds it to the last."—Young.

There were three wise men in Kentucky who journeyed from the North, the East and the West. Led by a vision far into the future, they came to the campus that was once the home of old Central University.

Other Kentuckians had dreamed dreams and by legislation had made possible a teachers' training school there. A small school it was and they needed a real man for its leader. Dr. Ruric Nevell Roark journeyed from Clark University to become its first president in 1906. So came the first wise man and the school prospered and grew.

In 1910 Dr. John Grant Crabbe, the second wise man, began his journey that led to Eastern. He came with a wealth of experience, personal ability and devotion to the cause of education. As president, his vision made greater things possible and gradually that same school became bigger and better.

The third wise man is our own President, Thomas Jackson Coates, who has guarded the interests of Eastern since 1916. This third wise man is President of a Teachers College granting its first baccalaureate degrees this year—a college it is, full grown at nineteen years; a standard college despite its youth; a college with equipment and faculty sufficiently strong to compete with the best of schools; a college with a future for itself and all Kentucky; a monument to those who dreamed the dream of its making; a lighthouse to all those who shall, in the future, dedicate their lives to the cause of education in Kentucky; a project so carefully directed by three wise men as to claim the admiration of all.

Far into the future gleams the light to guide all "would-be-wise-men." To them we fling the challenge of service to Kentucky—a service loyal to Eastern.

From year to year the Seniors of 1925 shall welcome others who will journey from Eastern Teachers College to serve Kentucky according to the ideals of their beloved Alma Mater.

Junior Class History

On the morning of September the twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and twenty-four, even the hills and streams in and around Richmond seemed to greet the rising sun with the radiant smile of joyful expectation. It was thought all nature realized that something of importance was going to happen. For on that day the students of EASTERN KENTUCKY TEACHERS COLLEGE AND NORMAL SCHOOL would once more flock back to the school, and among the returning students would be some who two years before had made their appearance as Freshmen, and others who left our school when it was only a Junior College, and who took the occasion, since EASTERN has become a Senior College, to return to earn their degrees.

The possibilities of greatness and achievement were limited only by their small numbers. Has '26 done her part this year as the Junior class at EASTERN TEACHERS COLLEGE? The facts in hand make bold to answer "yes." The Junior class has stood behind the college and entered into its activities with an enthusiasm that cannot be downed.

The class has among its members men who have been very prominent on the athletic teams. We proudly refer to Clayton Mainous, Russell Alexander and E. R. Hensley.

Among the class several members to whom we refer are those who have been very active in the college activities. We refer to two who have been given the honor and privilege of being allowed to do their practice teaching in THE NORMAL SCHOOL; these are Mrs. Emma Y. Case and Mr. Ishmael Triplett. Mrs. Emma Y. Case is also a member on the Advisory Committee for the Lyceum Program.

The following members of the class are taking an active part in the work of the "Little Theater Club": Virginia Routt, Judson Harmon, John H. Jennings and Sara Arbuckle.

The class boasts of three very efficient members on The Eastern Progress Staff. These are: Claud M. Hood, Business Manager; John H. Jennings, Assistant Business Manager; and Sara Arbuckle, Alumni Reporter.

We still sail steadily onward toward our Senior year. Our wish is that we may be referred to as a class that typifies the high ideals of EASTERN.

The Teacher Graduates

Again has come the blossom-laden May,
  Our Alma Mater's doors are opened wide.
The teachers come to graduate today
  With mingled thoughts of sadness and of pride.
The tangled threads of human life unwind,
  The hour has come when schooltime friends must part,
Responsive to a cry whose echoes find
  Some answering chord in every human heart.

The call of childhood's softly pleading tones,
  Who answers this becomes as truly great
As he who rises by a nation's moans
  To seize the reins of government and state.
Yon mighty chief whose mangled country bleeds,
  Whose voice shakes empires with its words of might,
Is he aught greater than the one who heeds
  The plea of ignorance groping for the light?

There is regret for scenes beloved so long,
  To which the graduate must say farewell.
Oft in the future some old college song
  Will rouse a yearning that we cannot tell.
Often a glimpse of some remembered face
  Will call back memories of days gone by.
And yet when duty calls us to our place,
  We dare not pause to hesitate or sigh.

We see the need in all the world's unrest
  To train a citizenry true and bold;
So forth we go in answer to that quest
  As fared the heroes in the days of old.
Is it a thought of such vain idleness
  To dream that old ghosts hover near today?
And dim from out the dust of centuries
  The shadows of the great ones lean to say:

"Start bravely forth upon your kingly reign,
  Lords of the kindly heart and gentle word,
And where our weary armies strove in vain,
  Accomplish with the plowshare beaten sword.
Tread now the paths that open with this hour,
  Go, face the future with unflinching eyes!
Oh, teachers, in your hands there lies the power
  To bid a mighty nation fall or rise!"

The Diploma Class of '25

Every class leaves behind some imperishable record of service and accomplishment, some tradition of ideals and leadership—sole measure of its worth. For many of us the dip'oma year marks the end of the school journey; to others it is the half-way mark on the road. Let us pause, then, before we go and consider our record.

In September 1923, the largest class in the history of Eastern began its existence as the class of '25. From the first it was essentially a class of service—from it was drawn the majority of the football squad, half the basket ball squad, over half the track squad, and nearly all of the baseball squad—from it was drawn the membership of the largest literary and debating societies on the campus—from it was drawn members of the Progres Staff and important school committees—in all school organizations were found Juniors serving and developing Eastern.

In 1924 re-organization of the school under Senior college classifications changed the name of the class of '25 from Seniors to Sophomores, but it did not decrease its power and willingness to serve. Again it assumed its self-imposed task of supplying capable leaders and workers for educational, social, and athletic service, adding to its duties the publication of the MILESTONE.

This idea of service resulted inevitably in accomplishment. In 1924 it won the boys' and girls' basket ball tourneys, the baseball tourney, and the annual track meet; in 1925 it won the first basket ball tourney. In its fine work in literary and social organizations, inspiration was found for the establishment of many new organizations in the current year. However, its finest accomplishment is its whole-hearted co-operation in every school activity.

The class of '25 had its ideals. Out to win always, it fought clean and hard. When it lost, it lost without excuse or alibi. It asked for neither preference or handicap. It desired to be judged on merit alone. Again service appears as its greatest ideal.

Time rolls on. Some of them go out to carry its ideals and accomplishments into the field of education; some will return to carry on its ideals through college, but wherever you find them, expect to find loyalty, honesty, co-operation, and high ideals—its heritage from and to Eastern.

The Normal Sophomore Class

The Normal Sophomore Class, as usual, is one of the smallest classes in Eastern. However, there is a vast quantity and a quality of talent, leadership, and determination within the class that causes it to win in many of the various contests held during each school year. There is a certain spirit about its members which makes the class interesting and outstanding.

With a few exceptions, every girl in class reported for the basket ball team, which played in the inter-class tournament. All of the boys practiced faithfully for the tournament. The Normal Sophomores had the largest squads of any of the classes, and were victorious over the other normal class teams.

The members of our class are outstanding in almost every activity in school. This applies not only to athletics, but to oratory, debate, social activities, and social work.

We hope that every September will find a splendid band of young men and women in the Normal Sophomore Class at Eastern. Too much praise cannot be given to the loyal and ambitious class officers and to the individual members of the class for their enthusiastic responses when placed upon programs.

"The Normal Freshies"

The youngest but not the least important of Eastern's classes makes its bow to you. Our roll numbers one hundred eighty-six, and though we have but one year's experience, our members have contributed to the athletic life of Eastern, and to other school activities.

Our advisor, Mr. Burns, has been most helpful and we feel that much of the credit of our success is due to him, and to our efficient officers, as well as to the enthusiasm of each member of our class. Our president, Mr. Delmer Dalton, is a talented speaker and has made a thoroughly efficient leader.

We advise you to watch our steps in the future. We are young yet, but if our past achievements may be taken as an index of our future greatness, we are confident that our class will be one of the finest that Eastern has ever produced, and that when the "Freshies" of 1925 grow up and graduate, we shall be able to look back upon a successful and worth-while record of school activity, of which each one of our members can say, "All of it I saw, some of it I was."

Football

Winning five of eight games played, the Eastern football team of 1924 enjoyed its most successful season in recent years. The Maroons again brought to Eastern with ease the championship of eastern Kentucky and won the admiration of all those who watched them play by the fight which they showed even when defeat was staring them in the face. Coach G. N. Hembree and the entire squad worked together all season in splendid fashion.

As is usually the case, the eleven got away to a slow start. This was caused by the failure of letter men to return to college, which yearly leaves before Coach Hembree the task of developing varsity men from green material. He succeeded beyond expectations. Eastern was not in shape for the opening game at Winchester with Kentucky Wesleyan, but held the Panters to a 27 to 0 score. Wesleyan's team was the best that institution has had for ten or more years.

The following Saturday Eastern jumped over to the winning side by trouncing Cumberland College 19 to 6 at Richmond. The Maroons were superior throughout and were scored on through a fluke. The Georgetown Freshmen were next defeated by Eastern by a 13 to 0 score. Scoring almost at will, the Maroon eleven smothered St. Mary's here the next week 49 to 0. With the best team the Pioneers have had in recent years, Transylvania defeated Eastern at Lexington 56 to 0. A trip to Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, Tennessee, resulted in a 13 to 7 defeat for Coach Hembree's men. The Eastern players claimed the L. M. U. held all during the game and were doing so when the winning touchdown was scored. Eastern outplayed L. M. U. in the game. Two straight wins closed the season. Morehead Normal drew a 14 to 0 defeat at Morehead, and Union College a 33 to 0 trouncing at Barbourville in the final game on Turkey Day.

The splendid record of Eastern is all the more deserving in that only two of the eight games were played in Richmond.

The Eastern eleven established a reputation everywhere they played as a fighting team composed of gentlemen. After the L. M. U. game, the referee, a Georgetown College man, remarked that Eastern was the cleanest playing team he had seen in action in a number of years. The same was true everywhere the Eastern eleven played.

The Captain of the 1924 eleven was William Hyatt, of Springfield, who, although handicapped by injuries, played good football at left end. The backfield was probably the best balanced one that Eastern has ever had. Stone at quarter, Clouse at full, and Moberly and Stevens, halves, worked well together. Alexander and Mainous divided time at right end, both playing steady games. In the line the work of Ballard Luxon was outstanding. John Ault played the other tackle, Triplett and Skaggs, guards, and Alford, center. Eastern presented a well-balanced team which gave good account of itself on the gridiron.

Coach G. N. Hembree is due a great deal of credit for the success of the Eastern eleven. He tackled a big job in playing most of his games away from home with such a sprinkling of veteran players. He met the task, as the results show.

Prospects for a better eleven in 1925 are good. Only four or five letter men and one or two regulars are expected to be missing when the work starts next fall. Now that Eastern is a four-year college, which will keep students here longer, the football team is expected to be strengthened by more letter men each season. The results of the 1924 season are as follows:

Eastern	0	Ky. Wesleyan	27	Eastern	7	L. M. U.	13
Eastern	19	Cumberland	6	Eastern	0	Transylvania	56
Eastern	13	Georgetown Frosh	0	Eastern	14	Morehead Normal	0
Eastern	49	St. Marys	0	Eastern	33	Union College	0

G. N. Hembree, Coach

Coach Hembree is probably due more credit for the success of the Eastern eleven than any other one person. Himself a former grid star here, makes him all the more interested in the team. For the past few years he has brought out and developed many capable players for Eastern. His work is all the harder in that so many who come out for the Maroon eleven have not had any previous football experience. Considering the problems with which he has to deal, his work here has been wonderful.

William Hyatt, Left End, Captain

"Bill" deserves much credit for his ability to handle the team on the field. He never knew when to stop fighting, and although bothered by injuries, he played consistent ball all season.

Ballard Luxon, Left Tackle

Outstanding in every respect was "Lucky's" work at this position. His work was just as brilliant against the harder teams. "Transy" could not stop his vicious tackling which every game meant some enemy back-spilled more than once ten or twenty yards behind the line of scrimmage.

Henry Triplett, Left Guard

"Trip," as he is better known, is a comer. He learned football at Eastern, and was a power in the line in the latter games of the year. He is a natural-born football player, from whom much is expected next season.

Bernard Alford, Center

Out of the game for two years, this Harrodsburg boy made a wonderful comeback. He played at center for the first time this season and was an accurate passer as well as a fighter on the offense and defense.

MARTIN SKAGGS, Right Guard

Skaggs is another who learned football at Eastern. If as much improvement is made by him next season as the one past, he will be ready for anybody's team. His bulky form should make him a power next season.

JOHN AULT, Right Tackle

John was always ready to put up his best game anywhere he was played, although tackle was his most prominent role. His offensive ability stood out in his work. He is another comer whose career is still before him.

CLAYTON MAINOUS, Right End

For several seasons Mainous has played consistent football at Eastern. This year he shifted from half to end, where he continued his great playing. He is a steady player who never shows signs of quitting.

TALTON STONE, Quarterback

As a field general this Richmond lad has stood out for three seasons. Ability to find holes with speed which sends him through for ten or fifteen yards is his. At receiving or tossing passes, he is a terror.

SHIRLEY CLOUSE, Fullback

A triple treat man is this lad. His punting, passing, and running are extraordinary. He was Eastern's best bet through the line, playing better as the season progressed. As a drop and place kicker, he had no peer at Eastern.

JESSE MOBERLY, Halfback

Jesse is a deadly tackler and one whom it takes two men to stop when he hits the line or circles the ends. It was his first year at Eastern and a brilliant start of a college career.

WILLIAM STEVENS, Halfback

The last of Eastern's "four horsemen" is Bill Stevens, probably the fastest. His ninety-five-yard run from a kick-off at L. M. U. was a feature. An exceptionally hard man to tackle, he stood out at running the ends.

HENRY HACKER, Substitute Quarterback

This fighter has the distinction of being the lightest man on the squad, weighing only a little more than a hundred pounds. Still, his cool head, punch and sheer football ability won him much praise.

WILLIAM TUTTLE, Substitute Tackle

Bill made his letter by playing, which made it hard to keep him off the varsity. A sure tackler in the line, and ability to get the jump on his opponent on the offense were his chief assets.

RUSSELL ALEXANDER, End

The best game Alex played was at Union College. He showed steady improvement as the season progressed, and was really a valuable player. At snagging passes he stood out.

Joe Gay

Considering that it was his first year at football, Joe played well. His huge bulk will make him a star when he learns more about the game. He is good-natured and takes the hard knocks with a smile.

Roy Cosby

"Josh" is a football player by nature and all that kept him off the team was inexperience. He learned a lot during the season and it should be hard to keep him on the bench in the future. He is a hard tackler and runs low and swift.

Allington Crace

Another student of football at Eastern is this chap, who took to it as a duck to the water. He is a consistent worker and a little more seasoning will make a dependable lineman out of him.

Beverage Dyer

This lad is among those who gained their football experience at Eastern. He entered the game this season for the first time, but promises to develop into a real player.

Orville Swearengen

Another one from the beginners' class. He showed up well in his first attempts at football. He took part in several games and did some creditable work.

Girls' Basket Ball

The 1925 basket ball season of the Eastern girls' team was probably the most successful which the Maroon and White clad girls have ever had. Although three games were lost of the thirteen played, the Eastern co-eds have a record which surpasses that of any college or university in the state. The state championship, which they claim, is rightly theirs and has been conceded to them.

All three of the teams, Western Teachers' College, Georgetown and Kentucky Wesleyan, which defeated Eastern, were beaten in return engagements. Both games with Transylvania went to the Eastern girls. This team twice beat both Georgetown and Kentucky Wesleyan.

During the entire season the Eastern co-eds ran up a total of 259 to their opponents' 130, lacking but a single point to double the score on their year's opposition. This is quite a record. The leading scorer for Eastern was Miss Kathleen Harmon, better known as "Johnnie," who was captain of the quintet. She ran up a total of 100 points for the year, with Miss Leanor Butler second with 81 points. Miss Edna Hatfield, the other forward with Miss Harmon, scored 41 points for the year. Miss Eleanor Arnold, although able to play in but three games, ran up a total of 25 points.

All season the defense of the Eastern team was quite brilliant. Miss Goldie Mauney stood out in this respect at guard, with the work of Miss Jennie Witham not far behind. Both of these girls won the praise of all the critics who saw them in action. Miss Butler, at center, also assisted much in the guarding. This season the Eastern girls played by modified boys' rules, which called for a two division court. Miss Butler, as center, was the only player allowed to run the entire court. She played equally as well on both offense and defense.

Three of the Eastern players, Misses Harmon, Butler and Mauney, won all-state positions through their season's efforts. They were selected by the Lexington Herald editor of sports, as well as Coach G. N. Hembree, of Eastern, and numerous coaches of central Kentucky. They justly deserve the honor accorded them.

Much more credit is due the 1925 team, and Coach Hembree for the fact that not a member of the 1924 championship team returned to school or played on the squad this season. The regular five was an entirely new aggregation which showed marked improvement in the closing weeks of the season. For three seasons Eastern's girls have been in the running for the state championship, but captured it for the first time this year. They met every team of any consequence in Kentucky, with the exception of the University of Louisville, which was defeated by both "Transy" and Wesleyan. Eastern's total of thirteen games played surpassed the total of any other team. Besides their wins over Western, Georgetown, Kentucky Wesleyan and their two over Transylvania, the Eastern co-eds defeated Hamilton College twice, Union College twice and Cumberland in the only game played with that five.

The improved playing of the Eastern five in the closing weeks of the campaign is due to the untiring efforts of Coach Hembree, who developed a state championship team without a regular from the season of 1924. He worked with the team hard from the very start, and brought it up to championship calibre. Miss Ruth Perry, head of the physical education department for women, did valuable work in training the girls.

Much is expected of the 1926 Eastern co-ed team, since four of this year's quintet were Freshmen. The Eastern co-eds have won a place at the top of the college teams of the state which they bid fair to hold. The fans are predicting another great season for them next year. The season's results are as follows:

Boys' Basket Ball

Although the Eastern boys' basket ball team was able to win but five of the eighteen games played, they showed flashes of form and fight which really did credit to their work. Struggling against several bad breaks during the year, the male five was able to give several brilliant exhibitions.

The type of teams which the Eastern five took on this year were much stronger than in the past. For the most part of the season the Eastern five was pitted against older, heavier and more experienced players. The team was composed of two boys in high school, one Freshman and two Sophomores. The style of play used by the Eastern boys was much superior to that in the past and, with seasoning given the squad this season, should be able to help a lot toward a winning team in the 1926 season. Then, too, the fact that Eastern has become a four-year college should help much, since the members of the basket ball squad will remain in school for longer periods of time.

Kelly Hampton, center, and Beckam Combs, guard, both of whom played regular, did not arrive at Eastern until the end of the first semester and thus missed five games. Captain Marshall Hurst was out of several on account of illness, which also caused Earle Jones to miss games.

A number of games which were lost by the Eastern boys went by close scores. It was characteristic of the Eastern games to be close in the first part with experience and weight telling on the Maroons in the last stages of the game. The total points scored in the eighteen games by Eastern reached 463, while their opponents counted 636. This is not half bad for a team which lost thirteen of eighteen games played.

The leading scorer was Talton Stone, assistant captain, who rolled up a total of 171 points. Kelly Hampton, center, made 121, while Jones, playing at forward most of the season, counted 83 points. Clouse, at center, forward and guard, scored 52 points; Higgins counted 29; Captain Hurst 5; Hensley 1 and Mainous 0. The bulk of the guarding was done by Captain Hurst and Combs. Mainous played in a number of games at guard, while the others who took part in games were Hensley, Mills, Head, Mainhart, Swearington, Triplett and Wicker.

A class tournament, to which varsity men were eligible, was held in December and no varsity practice during that month. With only a week's practice, Eastern tackled the strong Paris Athletic Club on Jan. 10, and after leading at the half 16 to 14, was defeated 44 to 24. Next Eastern held Berea, who did not lose a game in Kentucky and claimed the state championship, to a 38 to 25 win. The Western game was next lost 30 to 19, but Cumberland lost here 41 to 32. An outstanding victory for Eastern was one over Transylvania by a 29 to 28 score. Morris Harvey College, of Barbourville, W. Va., lost the next game here 32 to 25. Eastern played brilliantly to win from Union College 31 to 21 at Barbourville and put up a great fight against Wesleyan, only to lose 40 to 32. Lincoln Memorial University nosed Eastern out by four points in the next game, with the Maroons going rotten. The last part of the season saw Eastern play rather listless ball, with a flash of form against Marshall which died in the early stages of the game.

Eight letters were awarded to players, who were Captain Hurst, Stone, Hampton, Jones, Combs, Clouse, Higgins and Mainous.

Coach G. N. Hembree put in hours of work with the team and it seemed at times like it had a real combination only to be turned back by some trick of fate. He built for the future this season, and may have to again in 1926, but at any rate is making it possible for Eastern to have a winning team some time in the future.

Baseball

The 1924 baseball season at Eastern was quite a success, with the varsity winning seven games and losing but three. Among the victims of the Eastern team was Kentucky Wesleyan, ancient rival, who lost here 3 to 2 after handing the famous Notre Dame nine a defeat by a similar score.

Eastern started the season with six straight wins, playing unbeatable baseball. This winning streak was stopped by Lincoln Memorial University, which annexed two games from Coach Hembree's men on successive days at Harrogate, Tennessee, each by a one-run margin. A double-header here Saturday, May 16, closed the season for Eastern. The first game was annexed from Morehead Normal, 5 to 0, but this wore the Maroon nine down so that they were defeated 6 to 1 by the University of Kentucky Freshmen in the second game.

The opening game on April 5 was a victory over the Sue Bennett Memorial School nine, 7 to 4, in which Hayes turned in his first win. The State Freshmen were next defeated by a count of 11 to 9. John Dooley twirled Eastern to a 4 to 3 victory over Sue Bennett at London and Hayes held Kentucky Wesleyan to three hits in order to capture that game 3 to 2. Cumberland was easily defeated 14 to 7. Coach Hembree took his charges to Morehead, where that new normal school was beaten 13 to 3. Then came the two defeats at Harrogate, Tennessee, which were to the tune of 4 to 3 and 9 to 8.

The final double-header saw Hayes shut out Morehead with but four hits and Chancellor hold the Eastern batsmen to two bingles, both in the ninth inning, to win for the State Frosh 6 to 1. Two days later Hayes underwent an operation for appendicitis.

His twirling was a feature all season, with that of John Dooley not far behind. Barnett Fox was captain of the team and proved to be one of the best catchers Eastern has ever produced. His hitting was also consistent. Word held down first; Joe Gay, second; Alf Douglas, short; and Clayton Mainous, third. The outfielders were Mayo, Stone, Gregory, Williams and Milton. Mathis did some catching, while some of the other utility players were Hampton, Kidd, Sewell, C. Mainous and Martin.

Prospects for the 1925 season are bright. Hayes, Dooley and Stevens, all former star twirlers at Eastern, are back in college. A wealth of material is on hand with which Coach Hembree has to work. Numerous letter men will appear on the diamond this spring. A great season is expected.

The Milestone Staff

Handicapped by new conditions arising from the reorganization of the school into a senior college, the MILESTONE staff has attempted to publish not a literary epic, but a straightforward record of the year as a reminder of college activities and development.

While all the staff has worked hard to make this volume a success, it would feel itself ungrateful were it not to acknowledge the splendid work and untiring efforts of its faculty advisor, Mr. Deniston, to whom is due whatever praise this volume deserves.

Horace Mann Literary Society

It is a well-known fact that training of a literary type serves any ambitious young man or woman in a great capacity. In the past the Horace Mann Literary Society was the only organization in the college department offering this type of training. However with the opening of the second semester a new society was organized, which bids fair to offer our society some rather interesting competition.

The chief purpose of the Horace Mann Literary Society is to give to its members such training in the development of any talents they may possess as will enable them to be of much greater service in whatever community they may pitch their tents.

No organization on the campus has done more than has the Men's Club toward training the men of the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers College for leadership.

In the short period of four years many members of this splendid body have graduated from Eastern, and entered the teacher's profession, accepting the most responsible positions as superintendents, principals and teachers within the borders of our great commonwealth. The future of this magnificent organization is bright and promising, and no one acquainted with its activities will be surprised at any time to hear of someone trained by the Men's Club stepping into the highest positions offered in the state, since these men are all select, of high honor and integrity, also of undoubted character, and courage unequaled by any. These facts are proven by the history of the club, since many programs rendered in times past have demonstrated fully these high standards as well as the conduct of each individual. Much of the unparalleled success is due to our worthy and beloved Faculty Advisor, Professor G. D. Smith, who has been faithful all the while. "Long live the Men's Club!"

"The Spirit of the Little Theatre"

"I am the Little Theatre. Representation of life itself am I. With the aid of my mimetic art, Humanity sees itself reflected on the stage in all its many changing moods—grave and gay.

"I am the Little Theatre. Delicately, yet truly, I probe the hearts of men, portraying each according to his measure. Remorselessly holding the mirror up to Nature, I deride Society's follies, castigate its vices, extol its virtues. I trade in every human emotion. I create the laugh and the tear.

"I am the Little Theatre. All the machinations of unscrupulous ambition, implacable hatred, brutality, cruelty, avarice, vengeance—every wrong man can do his fellow—all these I show. The youth's tender wooing, the wife's troubled happiness, the adventuress' wiles, the poignancy of grief, the greed for gold, the craving for power—these are my themes The curses of the gambler and drunkard, the whisperings of the criminal and insane, the workings of the agonized conscience—all this do I depict side by side with the white flame of pure love, the sanctity of the home, the chastity of woman, the glory of motherhood, the virility of the statesman, the courage of the soldier, the lofty ideals of true manhood.

"I am the Little Theatre. In me are assembled all the arts—Poetry, Literature, Oratory, Painting, Sculpture, Music, Dancing. I am the spirit of Comedy, the glamour of Romance, the veiled figure of Tragedy. I am grim Realism itself. I visualize the historic past. I make live again the great of other days—Caesar, Napoleon, Washington, Lincoln, Grant. In Shakespeare's mighty line I reveal Othello's wrath and Juliet's woe.

"I am the Little Theatre, universal, inspirational—a teacher of all life. All the world's my stage, all mankind my puppets. My message is human experience. The wise will profit by it. I am the Little Theatre."

The Agricultural Club

The Agricultural Club, which was organized in February, 1925, is composed of students who are majoring in agriculture. It is the intention of this organization to study some of the more important problems pertaining to the technical and economic phases of agriculture, and to the teaching of agriculture in the State of Kentucky. The charter members are as follows:

C. R. Ash
Cyrus Green
Harold Kelly
L. H. May
Leonard Moore
David Morris
Clyde Phillips
Robert Reed
Albert Wilson
Gilmer Rigdon

Aim: To learn to speak convincingly
Motto: "Be proficient in argumentation"
Colors: Green and Gold

Owing to the increased interest in debating at Eastern, the above named club was organized, at the beginning of the school year, to satisfy such demands. The club consists of men who are really interested and who will work. It is a very exclusive organization, being limited to twenty-four members. All prospective members must be presented by some charter member of the club, after which they are initiated and become regular members.

Our purpose is to acquaint ourselves with the leading questions of the day. Moreover, since Eastern is now a four-year college it is the purpose of the Club to prepare and arrange for debates with other colleges.

Since debating increases one's ability to speak convincingly, and since it fosters one's intellectual capacity more than does any other literary endeavor, it is our intention to limit our work to this and allied fields.

The club has been very successful throughout the school year and is predicting more successful work in the future.

Open Forum

Eastern Teachers College has the distinctive honor of being the only school in the state having an Open Forum. This is the only organization on the campus which has the unique position of having as its membership every student of the institution.

In June, 1924 at the invitation of Miss Anna A. Schnieb, Misses Elizabeth North, Lelia McMurchy, Mabel Wasson, and Messrs. Elmer Little, A. B. Mackey, James Holtzclaw and Davis Fields met to discuss the need of an Open Forum for Eastern. The suggestion was enthusiastically received and plans were immediately made to organize. Throughout the summer, speakers of note were brought to the College to discuss the Bond Issue.

Due to the excellent work of the Committee the Open Forum was reorganized in the fall of 1925 with the following committee: Elizabeth North, President; Roscoe Dalton, Vice President; Mrs. C. Lusby Talbott, Secretary and Treasurer; Mary Floyd, Virginia Routt, Miss Schnieb, Clayton Mainous and E. C. Mullins, members.

To be brief, the work of the Open Forum has been entirely instructive, really benefiting every student. The following are some of the activities for which the Open Forum has been responsible: Noted Speakers, Conducting National Election on the Campus, Representatives at City Poles, Changing the date for Christmas Vacation, Educational Program for Student Government, K. E. A. Drive, Procuring Picture Show Machine, Student Loan Fund, Interest in care of the Campus, Improvement of the Auditorium Stage, and Art Exhibit.

The Board of Regents, President Coates, and members of the Faculty have been most appreciative of the work of this organization.

October 31—Captain Stewart and his "Pony Ballet" welcome the Chapelites with "Hail! Hail! The Gang's All Here."
October 2—8:30—History 3a—Keith. Lecture on "How baseball was played at the Arkansas University in the 20th century."
October 3—Latest information on number of recruits shows 4 to 2, in favor of the ladies—600 in all.
October 6—General Coates announces compulsory Chapel on Monday and Thursday.
October 7—"I want no change in Chapel,
I want it every day;
But I want to keep my privilege
To come—or stay away."—ISABELLE REDWINE
October 8—Roark's Slogan—"Put Horace Mann in the Shade!"
October 9—Geometry 1—Bryant. The Good Book says, "Avoid the appearance of evil." Push your chair farther to the right Mr. Hornsby, buck-cause if you don't, I might think your examination paper something like that of Mr. Ray.
October 11—New recruit—"But how can we have 'rithmetic games when Mr. Caldwell is not here?"
October 13—Colored gent'man to Hunkey Elder: "Boss, I sho' got to get dat gal o' mine in a good humor. Jus' gim'e a pair of dem new red and green socks what de Normalites is a wearin'. Dey sut'nly are de snake's hip fur style!"
October 15—It is said that Minerva sprang full-grown from the head of Jupiter. But boy, she had nothin' on the Open Forum!
October 16—A brand new Ph. D. arrives on the Campus, in the form of Dean Homer E. Cooper, who fills the place made vacant by the resignation of former Dean Donovan, who goes to Peabody Teachers College.
October 17—Rotary and Exchange Clubs put on a "Promote-a-Better-Feeling" programme. The unattached members, "Doug," and "Hunkey," bring down the house. Flappers much excited over the prospects.
October 20—The U. G. T. C. tells us who they are in Chapel.
October 21—The Progress gets into action, with Editor Higgins, Freshman, at the helm. An honest-to-goodness newspaper man is "Higgie," and big things are expected of The Progress this year.
October 23—Second try-out for The Little Theatre Club.
October 31—The Hobgoblins and Squaws, passed unnoticed at the Hallowe'n party—Mullins danced!

November 3—News of the birth of "Eastern Teachers College." Goodbye Normal!
November 4—Open Forum holds election on the Campus. The Bond Issue carried; Stanley won by a majority; only one vote spoiled in the casting.
November 5—From "Respect to Speakers"—The sixth Commandment: "Honor the lecturer by listening carefully, for to become a good listener is part of an education." Yea, Verily!
November 8—L. M. U. 13—Eastern, 7. 'Nuff said.
November 9—The Open Forum members will not soon forget the dinner at Boone Tavern, nor the pipe organ feast by Secretary H. E. Taylor, of Berea.
November 11—Armistice Day celebrated "on time."
November 15—Eastern, 49; St. Mary's, 0. Some encouragement.
November 17—Student Government? Yeah, boy, after Mrs. McVey's talk tonight!
November 18—Little Theatre gives Thanksgiving programme, which is to be presented later at the Newby School.
November 20—Miss Meyers (in French)—"Please remember, girls, that which holds is masculine, and that which is held is feminine."
November 24—And the Seniors sang in Chapel, "We are seven."
November 26—Little Theatre Initiation—Mrs. Burns devours nice, wooley worms with great gusto! Bill Stevens' manly shoulder acts as first aid for Miss Buchanon, who is discovered in a hysterical condition.
November 27—Ain't we got fun? Turkey an' stuffin' today, and holiday until Monday. Oh you Open Forum!
December 4—"Dark Secrets"—Look in Miss Schneib's room.
December 22—Miss Gibson: "But I have no children, and do not need a Christmas Tree.
Clerk: But some mistletoe, lady! Nice mistletoe!"
December 23—Evacuation of camp. Officers on furlough. Troops are demobilized until January 5.
January 5—Advice to Freshmen: Ignore your teacher when she asks you a question. Only the ill-mannered talk back to their elders.
January 7—Honest-to goodness Schoolmarm: "Well, what is this K. E. A., anyway? 'Nother high falutin' society, I 'spose!"
January 14—Desha Breckinridge talks to the U. G. T. C. on "Journalism, And Its Opportunities For Both Men And Women." Virginia Routt decided to change her profession.
January 15—Eastern girls defeat Georgetown 19 to 15 in opening game.
January 19—Paul A. Barnes accepts a position at Akron, Ohio.
January 20—Why does Miss Gibson look so sad?
January 28—New students rolling in, climbing in, tumbling in, or any old way to get in.
January 30—A 100% K. E. A. membership drive on hand.
March 2—Notice posted of the arrival of "Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh" on March 25. Ask Marion Webber.
March 4—Surprise C. O. D. packages! Just ask Mr. Tapp.
March 13—Dr. J. C. T. Noe entertains in Chapel, with some of his own poetry.
March 20—"Professor Bryant talks to normal group!" No, no names mentioned.
March 23—Mr. Keith is wagging a brand new, portfolio to classes. It is a gift from his Ashland students.
March 25—"Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh" lives up to her reputation of a go-getter, and Miss Webber did splendid work.
March 30—More volunteers arrive. More people stand around tagged with Y. W. C. A., K. E. A., X. Y. Z., and so on, just to make things snappy for the old regulars reviewing the line.
March 31—Bill Stevens sells Chapel tickets to newcomers, at bargain prices. Tee! Hee!
April 1—Notice posted, "Better special to K. E. A. will be run." But notice the day of the month, before taking it for granted.
April 7—Dr. Thomas Alexander, elementary educational director of the Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, was a visitor for several days.
April 13—Professor Foster awarded a year's scholarship, by General Education Board of New York. Mr. Foster will study at Harvard, at Peabody, and travel in Europe the following summer.
April 14—Mass meeting of enthusiastic students, headed by Emma Case, and Roscoe Dalton, puts the K. E. A. membership over the top with 1,000 members for Eastern.
April 15—Eastern defeats Centre College baseball team, 2 to 0.
April 15—Miss Pearl Buchanan's wistful expression, which has troubled some of her students, need not be interpreted as a recent death in the family. Easter was not Easter to her—there were no "Bunnies" around.

April 16—Mid-semester is near. As Sir Walter said to Queen Elizabeth when he spread his coat in the mud, "Step on it, kid, step on it."

April 17—Student body stage a mammoth parade, and cut classes, to celebrate the 1,000 K. E. A. membership. Biggest thing of its kind ever tried in Richmond.

April 20—Clinton Fugate shattered the Tea-Pot Dome, and therefore, lost the decision of the judges in the oratorical contest.

April 21—President Keith finds a "prize package" in his car, which delays the start to Louisville.

April 22—Buchanan, Floyd, and Talbot destroy the early peace of the Foster home by starting to Louisville at 5:59 A. M.

April 23—The K. E. A. in full swing; Bruce Waters and Ed Denny, the sheiks of the crowd, as usual. Hot weather, a crowded hotel register and ten thousand teachers and schoolmarms make things interesting from a good many angles.

April 24—Miss "Zellopher" gets another "wave." Miss Buchanon attaches a Shriner. Dess Nicely finds a stamping ground for warm evenings! "The Dear Senator" leaves heaps of messages for Mary Floyd. Dean Squires discovers all the cozy corners. President Keith shows a heretofore unnoticed trait of character—DIGNITY, and takes the prize by attending three banquets in one hour. Doctor Donovan receives a new degree; that of "the simple, little man." The President does not read a telegram at the banquet. Mrs. Keith learns that a new train has been put on, "The nine-fifty-five-love."

April 29—All's well that ends well! The Dean reports "Every student conducted himself in a manner that will bring credit to Eastern."

May 8—Freshman-Junior Prom. "Oh! you fine clothes."

May 9—Gee! ain't nature grand? Cumberland Gap trip.

May 14—May Festival begins by introducing our Madrigal Club.

May 15—More festival.

May 16—Festival ends. Too bad; no more chances to slip off to town.

May 19—Progress Banquet. Big times.

May 21—MILESTONE Banquet. Staff all willing to resign.

May 22—President's Reception. Everybody happy!

May 24—Annual sermon.

May 25—Little Theatre Club Banquet. A lot of action, but all at the table.

May 26—"The New Poor." Very appropriate.

May 27—The Alumni Banquet.

May 29—"Sheepskins" handed out.

May 30—"Good-bye" and homeward bound.

Mr. Keith to Elizabeth Tobin—"Why weren't you in class yesterday?"
Elizabeth—"I have an excuse, sir."
Mr. Keith—"Yes, I know, I've seen him."

Professor Carter—"When you examine a dog's lungs under the microscope, what do you find?"
Elizabeth Farmer—"The seat of his pants, I suppose."

"Horrors! My suit is ripping!"
"Yes, sew it seams."

Just because balloon pants are in style doesn't mean that clothes are going up.

"The House That Serves You Best"

New Student in College Cafeteria—"I say, man, how long have you been a waiter at this chow house?"
Waiter—"About nine weeks, sir."
New Student—"Oh, then it can't be you that I gave my order to."

The professor who comes ten minutes late is very scarce, in fact, he is generally in a class by himself.

Professor Cox (at Chemistry Lecture)—"Doctor Mainhart, who made the first nitride?"
Mainhart—"Paul Revere."

Professor Caldwell—"What is the binomial theorem?"
Bertha Rogers (wearily)—"I pass."
Professor Caldwell—"You're mistaken, you flunk."

David Myers—"When I was in China, I saw a woman hanging from a tree."
Mrs. Deane—"Shanghai?"
David—"Oh, about six feet."

A STUDENT'S CREED

I will blot out of my life the failure that comes from wasted hours, and write into it the success that comes from time well spent.

I will keep life's page clean and fill it with the record of knowledge learned.

I will fix my eyes on the goal of my ambition and hold my hand to its task.

I will work hard, hope high and live up to the best that is in me, then I can write at the end, "Well Done."

A reformer is a man who can see a dirty meaning in a clean joke.
